(Indianapolis)—The Indiana Office of Energy Development has scheduled three grant assistance workshops in order to promote two current grant programs, as well as assist potential applicants with the application process. The workshops will include the opportunity for on-site review of energy efficiency projects that might qualify for grant funding. The programs to be discussed are the Community Conservation Challenge, and the Energy Efficiency Water Treatment grant program.

“We’re looking for the best projects that will translate into greater energy efficiency,” said Brandon Seitz, OED Director. “These workshops will help bring these projects forward, and help the applicants through the application process.”

The workshop dates and locations:

Indianapolis

Tuesday, September 14, 2010
Keep Indianapolis Beautiful, Inc.
1029 Fletcher Avenue
Indianapolis, IN 46203

Evansville

Wednesday, September 15, 2010
CK Newsome Community Center
100 East Walnut Street
Room 118
Evansville, IN 47713

Ft. Wayne

Thursday, September 16, 2010
Ash Community Center
1701 Freeman Street
Ft. Wayne, IN 46802

The workshops are identical to one another, and run from 8:00am to 12 Noon. On-site project reviews will be conducted after the workshop program on the day of the workshop. The sessions are free and open to the public. Pre-registration is not required, but is recommended especially for attendees wanting an on-site review. Registration information is available online at www.Energy.IN.gov.
